

Program Learning Outcomes Community and Regional Development

1. Understand, evaluate and apply social scientific principles to community, regional, and organizational development issues.
2. Interpret and analyze oral information, written texts, and data sets regarding community, regional, and organizational development.
3. Capacity to work individually and within groups to produce written and oral analysis of development problems.
4. Able to make oral presentations of research findings to various audiences.
5. Teach skills necessary for independent, original, and entrepreneurial action.